

The Future@Work Health Report

Please find attached as requested The Future@Work Health Report Executive Summary.

The Future@Work Health Report, commissioned by Leighton Properties and Grosvenor Australia, reveals that major health risks such as heart disease, obesity, diabetes, cancer and mental health issues can be addressed in the workplace.

The report outlines how employers can play a vital role in the health of their employees through strategies to create a healthy workplace environment.

The report demonstrates a clear link between a healthy workforce, a healthy workplace and staff productivity and wellbeing. The business case for workplace health and wellbeing programs and a healthy workplace environment has never been stronger.

Leighton Properties, Grosvenor Australia and Wesley Corporate Health have made the report available at cost as part of their commitment to best practice in commercial building design, environmental sustainability and workplace health.

We are also happy to provide a copy of the full report.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you require any further information.
